

Night Food Ahmedabad

Situated inside the walls of Ahmedabad, the old city takes you to a century old street food culture of Gujarat. As you enter the jewellery market in the evening, the aroma of Manek Chowk is a call to stimulate the taste buds. Hidden behind a concrete exterior with a fading sign, the Irani restaurant in Ahmedabad's old town is easy to miss. The nearly 70-year-old cafe is home to what may be the city's finest maska buns, Irani chai. The Lucky restaurant is known for its spacious seating, and also the exposed gravestones and burial sarcophagi that the tables are set up around. Recognized for serving the best Gujarati thali in India, the House of M.G. is spread over the entire terrace. Burhanpur is known for iconic sweets that blend the taste of Madhya Pradesh with the authenticity of Ahmedabad.
